The Debates and Seminars Committee of Government Degree College, Pampore, in collaboration with the Internal Committee (IC) and the Department of Sociology, organized a debate competition on the theme “Gender Equality as Social Service” on 17th September, 2025, as part of Sewa Parv celebrations. The venue was college mini auditorium . The event started at 12pm.

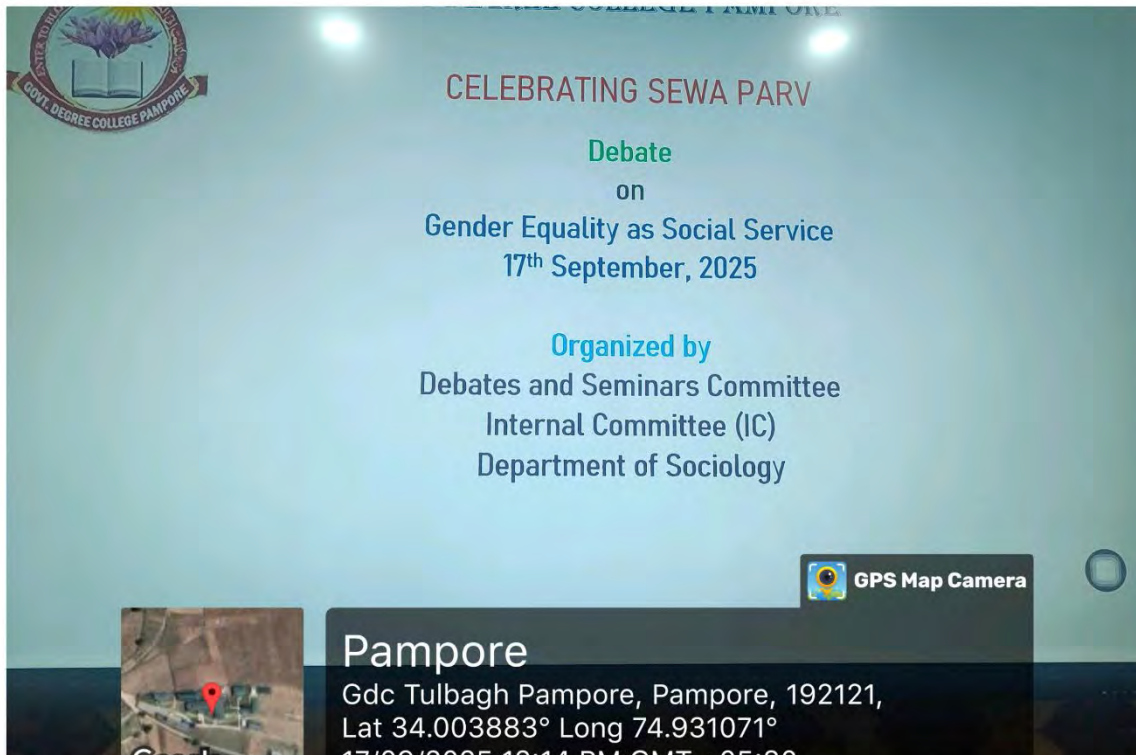

The event commenced with a formal welcome address by Prof. Aliya Muzaffer Convener Internal Committee (IC). She highlighted the significance of gender empowerment as a fundamental step towards social justice and collective welfare. Students from various streams actively participated in the debate, presenting well-researched arguments both for and against the motion. The participants eloquently deliberated upon the role of gender equality in shaping a balanced society, emphasizing its contribution as a vital form of social service.

The jury panel for the event comprised distinguished faculty members: Prof. Tazyeen Buchh, Department of Sociology, Dr. Bilal Ahmed Sheikh, Department of Kashmiri, Dr. Shaifta Ayoub, Prof. Aliya Muzaffer and Dr. Huzaifa Pandit, Department of English

The jury members keenly evaluated the participants on the basis of content, clarity, presentation, and logical reasoning. Their insightful feedback not only enriched the deliberations but also encouraged students to engage critically with contemporary social issues.

The debate concluded with the announcement of winners and words of appreciation from the jury, who emphasized that gender equality is not merely a constitutional mandate but a moral and social responsibility. Shah Areefa Ashraf from 5th semester secured first position. Sana Fazili and Mehak Rajab from 1st Semester secured second and third positions respectively.

The program was successfully coordinated by the Debates and Seminars Committee with active support from the Internal Committee (IC) and the Department of Sociology. The event was a resounding success, fostering intellectual exchange and reaffirming the commitment of GDC Pampore to cultivate awareness and dialogue on issues of social relevance.

Lecture on Mental Health and Community Care as Social Responsibility 18th September, 2025

The Debates and Seminars Committee of Government Degree College, Pampore, organized a lecture on the theme “Mental Health and Community Care as Social Responsibility” on 18th September, 2025, as part of the series of activities under Sewa Parv. The event was held in collaboration with the Internal Committee. The venue was College mini auditorium.

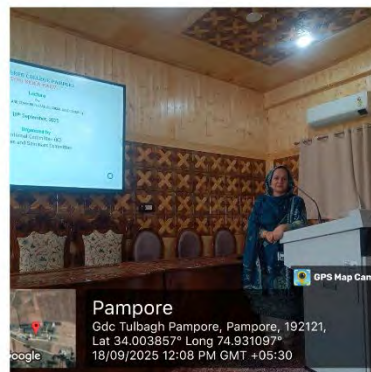

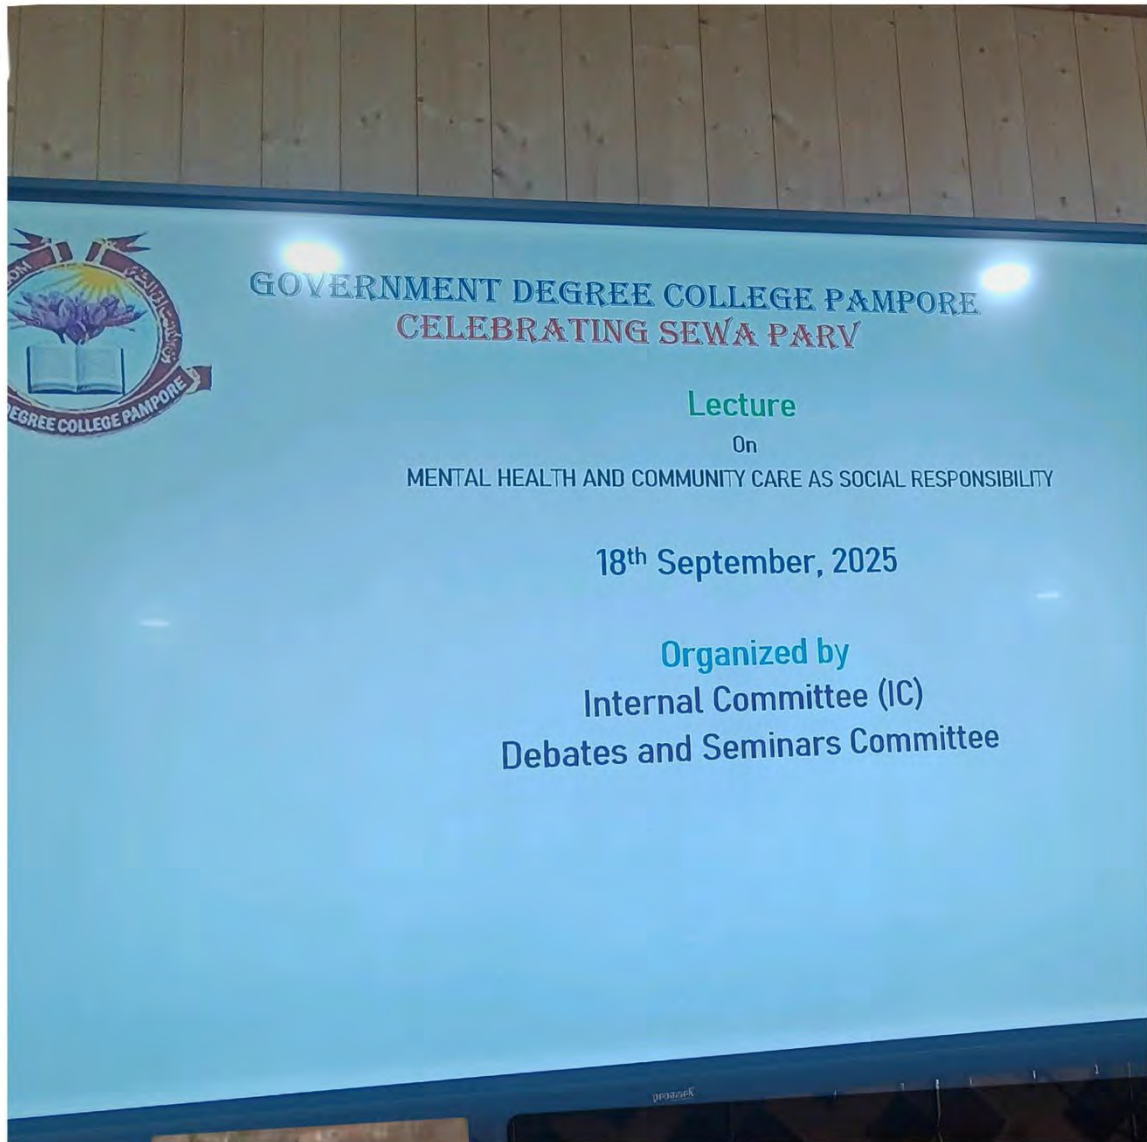

The resource person for the lecture was Dr. Ulfat Jan, Assistant Professor, Department of Psychology, Government Degree College Ganderbal. Dr. Jan, an eminent academic and counsellor, delivered a thought-provoking lecture focusing on the significance of mental health in today's society. She emphasized that community care and collective responsibility play a crucial role in addressing mental health challenges.

During her address, Dr. Jan highlighted how issues like stress, anxiety, and depression are becoming increasingly prevalent, particularly among the youth, and how society needs to remove the stigma associated with seeking psychological help. She also underlined the importance of empathy, awareness, and institutional support in ensuring mental well-being at both individual and community levels.

The lecture was followed by an interactive session in which students and faculty members posed questions, reflecting their keen interest in the topic. The session proved to be highly engaging and insightful, offering practical perspectives on integrating mental health awareness with social responsibility.

The event was coordinated by Convener, Debates and Seminars Committee, Dr. Shaifta Ayoub.

Overall, the event proved to be a meaningful academic exercise, successfully raising awareness about the pressing need to view mental health not merely as an individual concern but as a shared social responsibility.

Cleanliness Drive around Manibugh Wetland

Continuing the ongoing nationwide program on SEWA PARV, the Pampore Block of Wetlands Division Kashmir in collaboration with Government Degree College Pampore, FPF and NGO WCF, organized a special cleanliness drive around the Manibugh Wetland on 20-09-2025.

The program witnessed the active participation of desirous and enthusiastic students of GDC Pampore, who came forward with great zeal and commitment to contribute towards the noble cause of environmental conservation.

At the outset, an awareness session was conducted wherein the significance of wetlands was highlighted. The officers of the Wetlands Division Pampore sensitized the students about the vital role wetlands play in maintaining ecological balance, groundwater recharge, biodiversity conservation, flood mitigation and their importance as habitats for migratory birds was also emphasized, underlining its aim to instil the spirit of voluntary service, environmental stewardship, and community participation.

Following the awareness session, the participants actively engaged in the cleanliness drive. The drive focused on removing plastic waste, polythene, and other solid waste materials around the Manibugh Wetland. The students, along with staff members and volunteers, displayed great enthusiasm while carrying out the task and took a pledge to spread awareness among their peers and community members regarding the harmful impacts of littering on wetland ecosystems.

This joint initiative proved to be a valuable step in not only cleaning the wetland but also in inspiring the younger generation to become responsible custodians of nature. The collaboration between the Wetlands Division, GDC Pampore, and NGO WCF stands as a remarkable example of how coordinated efforts can make a significant difference in conserving our natural resources.

The program concluded with words of encouragement from the Wildlife department, who appreciated the students for their active involvement and reiterated the need for sustained efforts to preserve the fragile wetland ecosystems of Kashmir.

In essence, the cleanliness drive at Manibugh Wetland under the banner of SEWA PARV was a successful event that combined awareness, action, and community participation towards safeguarding the invaluable wetlands of the region.

Report of Cleanliness Drive held under the Aegis of Sewa Parv and Swachhta Hi Seva, 2025 Campaign on 22-09-2025.

The NSS Wing of Government Degree College Pampore under the aegis of Sewa Parv and Swachhata Hi Seva, 2025 Campaign organized a mega Cleanliness Drive in the college campus and in the Wahab Khar area on 22nd September, 2025. The initiative was conducted with the objective of promoting the spirit of cleanliness, hygiene, and community service among students and faculty members.

The drive was held under the overall supervision and guidance of Prof. Samina Yesvi, Incharge Principal of the College who encouraged the participants to actively involve themselves in such socially responsible activities. The programme commenced in the morning with a cleanliness campaign inside the college premises. Faculty members, non-teaching staff, and NSS volunteers participated with great enthusiasm in cleaning the campus. The activity not only beautified the surroundings but also instilled a sense of belongingness and responsibility towards maintaining a clean and green environment.

After the successful completion of the campus cleanliness the NSS team, preceded outside the college premises to extend the cleanliness mission to public spaces. Particular focus was laid on Wahab Khaar, a place of cultural and spiritual importance to the local community. Under the leadership of Prof. Kasira, NSS Programme Officer and Prof. Irtiza Rashid Wani Head Department of Music, the NSS volunteers carried out an extensive cleaning drive in the Main Park situated at Wahab Khar Shrine. The volunteers collected plastic waste, litter, and other debris, restoring the park to a cleaner and more eco-friendly state. The active involvement of students reflected their commitment towards social service and environmental sustainability. Through this initiative they not only contributed towards community welfare but also learned the values of teamwork, responsibility and civic sense. The programme concluded with words of appreciation from the Prof. Kasira, NSS Programme Officer who applauded the dedication and hard work of the NSS volunteers.

Report

To mark Sewa Parv and commemorate Gandhi Jayanti, the Department of Library, Government Degree College Pampore, organised a Book Review Event on September 24, 2025. The programme drew participation from more than 50 enthusiastic students, serving as a heartfelt tribute to Mahatma Gandhi's enduring philosophy and legacy.

The event began with a welcome address by Dr Tabasum Maqbool, Librarian of the College, who underlined the timeless relevance of Gandhi's thought. She encouraged the gathering to revisit his principles of truth, non-violence, simplicity, and service as guiding values in a world often marked by conflict and materialism.

The highlight of the programme was the students' reviews of two of Gandhi's seminal works: My Experiments with Truth and All Men Are Brothers. In their reflections on My Experiments with Truth, students emphasised Gandhi's remarkable journey of self-discipline, moral courage, and unyielding pursuit of truth (satyagraha). They noted how Gandhi treated life as a laboratory, testing his ideals through personal practice, and how his experiments with simplicity and spiritual growth hold lessons for today's youth navigating ethical dilemmas.

While reviewing All Men Are Brothers, students highlighted Gandhi's vision of universal brotherhood, his emphasis on compassion, and his insistence on seeing all faiths as equally valid paths to truth. The text's stress on equality, interdependence, and service to humanity was discussed as a blueprint for promoting peace, harmony, and social justice in contemporary times.

The presentations sparked vibrant discussion among participants, who reflected on Gandhi's teachings as tools for peaceful conflict resolution, interfaith dialogue, moral self-examination, and the building of inclusive communities. The dialogue reaffirmed the Mahatma's conviction that change begins with the individual and radiates outward to transform society.

The event was skillfully moderated by Ms Areefa Ashraf, ensuring a seamless flow of ideas and perspectives. As the event concluded, participants left with a renewed appreciation of Gandhian values, recognising that his philosophy remains a living guide for personal integrity, social justice, and global peace. Finally, Dr Tabasum Maqbool proposed the vote of thanks.

The campaign to establish the community shelf, orchestrated by the college librarian, earned a resounding response. Both students and faculty members participated enthusiastically, contributing a diverse range of books—from academic texts to novels and self-help guides—to build a collection that reflects their shared commitment to knowledge and service. A special thanks goes to Dr Sidrat Ul Muntaha Anees for contributing a sizeable number of books for this cause. The growing stack of donations soon transformed into a vibrant resource, underscoring the generosity and civic-mindedness of the college community.

The official inauguration on September 30 proved a symbolic moment, tying the launch directly to the spirit of Sewa Parv. Now accessible to all, the community shelf stands as a living embodiment of collective goodwill, offering students and staff the joy of reading without barriers. The initiative not only cultivates literacy and the love of learning but also fosters a culture of sharing, empathy, and connectedness within the campus.

Through this effort, the college demonstrates how even small acts of Sewa can inspire positive change and contribute to a more inclusive and caring educational environment—perfectly capturing the essence of Sewa Parv and reflecting a wider national movement toward mutual upliftment and service.
